The Hypocritical Demand of the Free

One of the chief complaints against the protective system is its alleged hindrance to foreign trade and a foreign market for our own products. It is ar-MCLANE'S CELEBRATED gued that if we could import raw mate-in the markets of the world. This the-ory is wholly, as I believe, illusory. It is without substance. We have an exmple of free raw material in a certain ine of manufacture—that of leather for soots, shoes, etc., etc. In 1872 hides and skins were made free so that our boots, shoes, etc., etc. In 1872 hides and skins were made free so that our manufacturers could import them without custom house burdens. They have had "free trade" in their raw material now for sixteen years. This industry has been an exceptionally successful one, and yet you cannot avoid being surprised when I say to you that, in those sixteen years we have been able to export but 2 per cent of the leather production of the country.

But if free raw material be necessary to seenre an export trade and the foreign markets, then I answer that our manufacturers to-day have substantial free trade in foreign raw materials which they make into the finished product in the United States, provided they export it. Sections 3,019, 3,020, 3,021 and 3,022 of the United States statues provide for the remission of duties on all foreign materials used in manufacturing for the export trade. The law is positive that all articles manufactured forexport from imported materials, upon which duties have been paid, shall, when exported, be entitled to a drawback of 90 per cent of the duties paid on such raw materials. Some use has been made of these laws. The remission of such raw materials. Some use has been made of these laws. The remission of duties in 1884 paid upon imported mate-rial manufactured for foreign markets amounted to $2,256,638. On some articles the drawback is equal to the duty paid, but in no instance where articles are imported to be manufactured here paid, but in no instance where articles are imported to be manufactured here and sent abroad is the duty to exceed 10 per cent.

And yet we are gravely told by the tariff reformers that we cannot reach foreign markets on account of the high tariff on raw material, when, in fact, for foreign trade, foreign raw materials are practically free. This principle was repractically free of the foreign raw materials are practically free. This principle was reproduced and made applicable to all imported materials, the drawbacks varying from 90 to 100 per cent. What becomes then of the cry for free raw materials in the presence of this fact? The truth is, we are not so much concerned about the foreign market as we are about the home market. The latter is the best, and we have not yet been able to control it, and until we do, that should be our chief concern. But if any of our people are sighing for a foreign market and value it more highly than our own, they can import foreign raw material practically signing for a foreign marget and value it more highly than our own, they can import foreign raw material practically free of duty, and after advancing into the higher forms of manufacture can go out and possess the world's market. Taxed raw materials do not stand in their way, and it is hypocrisy to claim otherwise.

Weton Republican.

The surplus money in the United States Treasury is not half as great as the surplus of lines who are writing up reports of West Virginia politics for the Wheeling Register. Its misrepresentations of Republican conventions are so glaring that it causes the blush of shame to mantle the cheeks of all readers who have witnessed the proceedings of the meetings to which it refers.

Good Work for Protection

It is ably edited, and is putting in the licks where they are needed and where they are bound to count. A surprise party in West Virginia may be looked for this fall.

Attracts National Attention

The Wheeling INTELLIGENCER entered ts thirty-seventh year last Friday. It is its thirty-seventh year last Friday. It i brighter and newsier than ever before The manner in which it is handling th tariff question is attracting national at-tention. May it live to enjoy many re-turns of the happy day.

If you are expecting to set out an orchard this fall a good work can be done now in preparing the soil. If you do not intend to set out until spring now is a good time to have them arrive this fall and then heel them in. Often a good opportunity is offered this month to haul out manure, and it will certainly pay to improve. There is no overstock of really good fruit. It is the poorer grades that have glutted the markets, so that there is no over-production of the best. Dettweller, a German chemist, has cow will produce fourteen tons of ma-nure in a year, and that the cost of the on four different farms in Germany, was espectively $11, $14, $5 and $28, or on an yerage of $12. Where no stock is kept and manur must be made for a garden, an excellent mode for so doing is to begin with a pile of dirt, upon which all the waste water

Many weeds die and disappear if not allowed to go to seed, but if seed be produced the weeds spring up next season. By mowing the grass the weeds are also cut down, and if the work be well done the weeds will be replaced by a thicker growth of grass.

The peanut yields from 40 to 50 percent of nearly colorless oil of quality not far below olive oil, for which it is largely ar below once of, for which it is largely sold. Last year 10,000,000 bushels of peanuts were imported to Marseilles, France, to be pressed for oil, very little of which was sold under its proper name. The residual pomace is employed in adulterating chocolate.

When too much milk is required to ake a pound of butter the cost is some make a pound of butter the cost is some-times greater than the product. It should not take over twelve quarts of milk on an average to make one pound of butter, though the quantity in some dairies will be more or less than twelve quarts. The feed allowed will largely assist in regulating the proportion. The towards vine will continue to bear

The tomato vine will continue to bear until frost. 'A good vine should have blossoms, green fruit and ripe fruit on it at the same time. It may be trimmed and kept in shape like a tree, and should be supported by a stake or hoops. As the vine produces an abundance of fruit a handful of fertilizer may be scattered around it occasionally; superphosphate being excellent. Weeds and grass should be kept down.

A dairyman who was brought up in a limestone country says that cattle there never bloated from eating green feed. This has led him to believe that lime in water prevents bloating. He has followed the practice of putting from one to two gallons of lime every week in the water-troughs from which his cattle drink, and none of his cattle give him trouble by getting bloated.

The borer moth will not lay her eggs where the tree is well surrounded with coal ashes, and if wood ashes be mixed it is so much the better.

The Orchard and Garden says the pho The Orchard and Garden says the phosphate and potash fertilizers are the best for fruit trees. An excess of the nitrogenous element is neither needed nor desirable, but often positively injurious, This is the reason why commercial fertilizers generally prove so highly satisfactory to the fruitsgrower. A better orchard fertilizer than wood ashes does not exist. Save and use all you have; buy all you can (if cheap enough). Don't be afraid to apply liberally.
